We would like to invite you to become a sponsor of the Kentucky Energy Management for Schools workshops to be held in four regions of the Commonwealth in 2009. This yields great exposure, and is available for a contribution of $200. Each one-day workshop will host up to 100 school decision-makers representing a cross-section of district administrators and faculty and focus on the creation of an energy management program for their schools.

The Kentucky Department of Energy Development and Independence is presenting this event in collaboration with the Kentucky NEED (National Energy Education Development) Project, the Kentucky Pollution Prevention Center's Kentucky Energy Efficiency Program for Schools (KEEPS), the Kentucky School Plant Management Association (KSPMA) and Kentucky Green and Healthy Schools.

The benefits of your program sponsorship will include:

- Identification as a sponsor of Kentucky's Energy Management for Schools Workshop in all program-related press releases, promotional literature, and web site postings.
- Signage at all four workshops announcing your sponsorship of the event.
- Distribution of sponsor contact information to all participants.
- Contact information for all workshop participants.

If you would like to attend one or more of the workshops, in addition to sponsorship, the cost is $50 per person per workshop.

These workshops are for schools seeking answers to the rising costs of energy. We hope you will consider joining us as a sponsor of Kentucky's Energy Management for Schools workshops.
